

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

CODE OF STUDENT ACADEMIC CONDUCT

- I will adhere to the highest standards of professionalism and ethical conduct, both as a student in the School of Public Health and as a public health professional. I accept that development of ethical competencies is a life-long process, and an integral component of professional training and subsequent career development.
- I acknowledge that truth, integrity, accountability, together with a commitment to excellence and ethical decision-making, are core competencies for public health professionals.
- I recognize that in addition to acquiring knowledge and skills I am also accepting responsibilities to both the public and my peers. I pledge to treat them with respect, and to honor the dignity of each member of the public health community and the communities with whom we work.
- Successful public health practice demands group collaboration. Therefore I will cooperate with my colleagues for our mutual learning, except in those instances where individual effort alone is expected.
- Public health is a science-based profession, so respect for scientific evidence is vital to our academic and professional development. I will recognize the contributions of others to my work by appropriate attribution to books, journals, websites, or other documents in the preparation of my assignments. I pledge that any work expected of me as an individual will be mine alone and not the work of others. I recognize that cheating and plagiarism are unacceptable in any form.
- I pledge to share and to respect our community facilities, library materials, laboratory materials, computing centers, teaching and conference rooms.

By signing here, I agree to adhere to this code as a student in the University of Michigan School of Public Health.
